PARTNER WITH US FOR A GLOBAL IMPACT

Shape the future of marine mammal conservation by sponsoring the 55th EAAM Symposium. This year's theme is "Sharing science to build a bridge to action for the global protection of aquatic animals".

The event brings together world renowned researchers, veterinarians, animal care professionals, and conservationists.

As a sponsor, your brand will be at the forefront of supporting scientific discoveries and concrete actions to protect the environment.

THE EVENT

The symposium showcases the latest research, innovations, and practices regarding the care of and policies for marine mammals. Sponsors gain direct visibility among a global audience dedicated to protecting aquatic life.

We will explore key areas of marine science and animal care:

- Animal welfare: best practices for environmental enrichment and animal care
- Veterinary advancements: case studies and new approaches to medical diagnosis and disease prevention
- Conservation: action plans addressing climate change, pollution, accidental bycatch in fishing nets, and ocean noise
- Zoological collaborations: the growing role of accredited zoos and aquariums in research and animal protection
- Rescue and fieldwork: programs linking work in natural habitats (in situ) with animal care in external facilities (ex situ)

PRESENT YOUR SOLUTIONS in a unique setting!

The 55th EAAM Symposium will take place across two venues.

Oltremare 2.0 in Riccione, a center of excellence for animal knowledge and scientific research. It is a park that does more than just showcase nature: it defends, studies, and celebrates it. Every pathway and experience is designed to forge an authentic bond between people and the planet we inhabit.

Cesenatico, a city that preserves and showcases its maritime heritage dating back to the Middle Ages with the Porto Canale (Canal Port) designed by Leonardo da Vinci in 1502. The heart of this heritage preservation is the Maritime Museum, which houses historic vessels that remain afloat and seaworthy, alongside 'vele al terzo' (lugsail) ecomuseum, where veteran fishermen and young boat owners exchange traditional knowledge regarding navigation and boat maintenance.

Cesenatico thus demonstrates how maritime culture can generate healthy economic development and sustainable tourism.

As a sponsor, you will have everything you need to easily showcase your products and services. We have designed this setup to ensure you can highlight your offerings, meet the right people, and maximize your visibility throughout the symposium.

Comprehensive services at your disposal: electricity, running water, and Wi-Fi everything necessary to ensure your stand runs smoothly.

Furnishings: we provide tables, but we recommend bringing your own chairs, high-top tables, or display units to create the best possible presentation.

Prime location: you will be just steps away from the main conference hall, with catering services available throughout the day.

Flexible setup: weather permitting, terrace setups are available, offering a unique and visually striking space to engage with attendees.

Cesenatico Maritime Museum features a 100 seat conference room equipped with a video projector and PC, as well as two smaller rooms suitable for poster sessions or focus groups.

Oltremare 2.0 will host the Gala Dinner in front of the large window at Dolphins World, creating a unique atmosphere that allows attendees to be just meters away from the large family of bottlenose dolphins.
